

Keeping Girls in Sport – is a new online education module that has become available and is being offered for free for a limited time using the following code: KGIS-E7P3W2Z. Please note that there are a limited number of codes (10,000) so it is a first-come first-serve system with also an expiry of October 31st to try it. Therefore, whoever is interested must create a profile and use the code to receive it for free by the deadline, or before the codes are all used up. After the deadline or maximum free usages, the cost of completing the module will be 17$.

Coaches will receive 2 PD points for completing the module, and similar to the Respect in Sport Activity Leader module, there is the data connector to the Locker, so they can check off the appropriate box in the profile page, and the information will go into the NCCP Locker. If you need assistance with finding your locker # please contact Jason Reindl at jason.reindl@usask.ca
